NEWS
JULY 25, 2019

LUKOIL AND CNH INDUSTRIAL LOCALIZE PRODUCTION OF NEXPRO OILS FOR SPECIAL EQUIPMENT AND COMMERCIAL VEHICLES

LUKOIL has become a technology partner of the CNH Industrial machine-building giant by localizing in Russia production of the specialized NEXPRO lubricants line. These oils have been developed at the request of CNH Industrial with regard to design parameters, as well as features of the operation of modern trucks, agricultural and construction machinery under IVECO, CASE, NEW HOLLANI brands.

The NEXPRO product line features eight types of oils – motor, transmission, hydraulic and universal tractor oils. They will be manufactured according to CNH Industrial formulations at LUKOIL plants in Perm and Tyumen.

For reference:

CNH Industrial is a world leader in engineering, designing, production, distribution, after-sales services, as well as commercial and financial activities in international markets around the world. The holding comprises 12 brands and manufactures products for agriculture and industry, including tractors and combine harvesters; trucks and buses; transmission solutions for road, off-road and marine vehicles. The Group's manufacturing and product development encompasses 66 factories and 53 R&D centers around the world.